ELoGE MALTA

2025 - 2026

ELoGE – European Label of Governance Excellence is a Council of Europe program that promotes the 12 principles of democratic good governance at the local level.

ISIG – Institute of International Sociology of Gorizia – is a research institute that supports local authorities and partner institutions in the implementation of the program. In this role, ISIG provides scientific expertise, methodological guidance, and training activities, assuming full editorial responsibility for this manual. The content does not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Council of Europe.

This edition of the manual has been updated for the ELoGE Malta 2025 program, managed by the Local Councils' Association, with the support of the Congress of Local and Regional Authorities of the Council of Europe through the grant ELoGE MMS 2025_515.

The Benchmark for Good Democratic Governance is based on the 12 Principles outlined in Recommendation CM/Rec(2023)5 of the Council of Europe. It represents a self-assessment matrix built on 72 indicators designed to define the results against which the performance of a specific local authority can be assessed.

It is a self-evaluation exercise that enables Local Councils to enhance transparency, accountability, and effectiveness in their governance practices.

Components of the Benchmark

The benchmark includes several key components, namely:

1 Results

For each of the 12 principles, three results are defined, representing specific levels of achievement or compliance. Each result is linked to two detailed indicators, which represent concrete measures or activities that contribute to achieving the respective result.

2 Sources of evidence

To support Local Councils in substantiating their assessments, three potential sources of evidence are provided for each result. These sources illustrate the types of documentation or proof that a Local Council may use to justify its self-assessment.

- A result should be understood as a specific level of achievement or compliance with the principle.
- An indicator should be understood as a detailed measure or activity that contributes to achieving the corresponding result.

Assessment framework

Local Councils are required to assign a score to each result based on the level of achievement (self-assessed/perceived). The scoring scale is as follows:

- Not at all – We are aware of the main issues, but no planning or action is taking place.
- Partially – We recognise the key issues and are designing responses, but actions taken are limited.
- Sufficiently – We have well-developed plans and activities to address the key issues, with significant examples of implementation.
- Fully – We are able to demonstrate clear evidence of good practices that are monitored and systematically integrated into our actions.

Description of evidence

For each indicator, the Local Council is required to provide a brief description of the evidence it could produce to demonstrate the existence of the assessed situation and to substantiate its self-evaluation.

Compliance assessment

Once all results have been assessed, the Local Council is required to express its overall level of compliance with the principle statement.

Establishment of a Benchmark Task Force

Local Councils are encouraged to establish a Benchmark Task Force composed of key stakeholders, including the Mayor, representatives of the Council, the Executive, and the administrative structure, in order to ensure a comprehensive and participatory self-assessment process.

Principle 1 – Democratic Participation There should be effective and inclusive democratic participation, including regular, free, and fair elections to legislatures, assemblies and other public institutions, and meaningful engagement by government and public institutions with those whom they serve.
		Not at all	Partially	Sufficiently	Fully	NOT AT ALL - We are aware of the key issues but not planning for action to be taken. PARTIALLY - We acknowledge the key issues and designing answers, but only limited actions is taken. SUFFICIENTLY - We have well developed plans and activities to address key issues with significant examples of implementation. FULLY - We can show clear evidence of good practices which are monitored and integrated in our interventions.
1.1 People are at the centre of policy and decision-making processes. There is a balanced participation of all genders in political and public decision-making, and the broad participation of all people, including the less privileged and the vulnerable is fostered.
	1.1.1 Participatory democratic mechanisms - such as public consultations, citizens' assemblies, townhall meetings, participatory budgeting initiatives, including participatory budgeting for green initiatives, and referenda - organised regularly by the local authority.					Reports of regular stakeholders mapping and assessment. Records of public consultations, including meeting minutes, attendance logs, and feedback received. Records of participatory mechanisms implemented, including questions, participants list, etc. Dedicated functions/appointed councillors to coordinate participation processes Existence of external collaborations for the creation of participation processes. Existence of permanent committees and public assemblies on topics of public/general interest including environmental topics...
	1.1.2 The local authority collects disaggregated data to measure representation of all genders, the less privileged and the vulnerable in policy and decision-making bodies.					Composition of policy and decision-making bodies, includes gender breakdown. Minutes of meetings showing discussions or actions taken to address gender representation issues. Reports on the implementation of any local authority policies in the field of gender mainstreaming. Reports of the activities of any appointed councils (e.g., equal opportunities/gender policy, migrants, disability, Guarantor for the Rights of Prisoners and Women Prisoners) Mechanisms to include underrepresented groups in environmental decision-making processes.

1.2 People have the opportunity to access and engage in policy and decision-making processes directly or through legitimate intermediate bodies that represent their interests, ensuring decisions reflect the will of the majority while respecting the rights and legitimate interests of the minority.
	1.2.1 The local authority engages with legitimate intermediate bodies (i.e., private or public) composed of representatives from diverse backgrounds and demographics within the community in decision-making processes.				Agreements or memoranda of understanding with intermediate bodies (i.e., private or public) specifying their roles and responsibilities in decision-making. Documentation of meetings and interactions between the local authority and intermediate bodies. Reports or testimonials from representatives of diverse backgrounds within the community about their involvement in decision-making processes. Regular consultations and feedback mechanisms on public policies, including environmental policies.
	1.2.2 The local authority actively seeks input from a broad spectrum of community representatives and stakeholders, including marginalised or under-represented groups.				Records of outreach efforts or consultations with marginalised or underrepresented groups. Documentation of initiatives aimed at promoting inclusivity in participation, such as language accessibility measures or arrangements for people with disabilities. Reports measuring impact of community groups inputs to decision-making processes. Publicly accessible platforms to share environmental information and collect public feedback. Efforts to engage civil society and partner with NGOs with expertise in environmental issues.
1.3 Elections are conducted freely and fairly, without any fraud, in accordance with national laws, European standards and electoral heritage, as summarised for instance in the Code of good practice in electoral matters of the European Commission for Democracy through Law (the Venice Commission).
	1.3.1 Voter education and awareness-raising programmes implemented by the local authority to educate the public about the electoral process, the importance of voting, and how to participate effectively in elections.				Educational materials and resources developed, such as brochures, pamphlets, and online content. Records of voter education programmes conducted, including dates, locations, and participant feedback. Data on voter registration rates and voter turnout in local elections before and after implementing voter education initiatives. Information on Environmental decision-making processes published.
	1.3.2 Actions to strengthen election monitoring, ensure integrity and transparency in campaign processes, and maintain the accuracy and security of voter registration systems implemented by the local authorities within the scope of its competences.				Polling station setup and management records kept, including locations, staffing, accessibility measures, independent observers and vote-counting procedures. Campaign regulations and guidelines in place, outlining rules for campaign financing, advertising, and conduct. Records demonstrating efforts to maintain the accuracy and security of voter registration systems, such as regular audits and security protocols. Access to environmental information should be ensured through these channels.

How much do you agree with the following statement?
	Our local authority ensures effective and inclusive democratic participation by consistently holding regular, free, and fair elections for our legislatures, assemblies, and other public institutions. It is committed to engaging meaningfully with people, valuing their input in all our decision-making processes.

Principle 2 - Human rights The respect for human rights which protect everyone, and which embody the values of fairness, dignity, equality and respect should be ensured, in accordance with European and international standards, including the Statute of the Council of Europe (ETS No. 1) and the European Convention on Human Rights (ETS No. 5).
		Not at all	Partially	Sufficiently	Fully	NOT AT ALL - We are aware of the key issues but not planning for action to be taken. PARTIALLY - We acknowledge the key issues and designing answers, but only limited actions is taken. SUFFICIENTLY - We have well developed plans and activities to address key issues with significant examples of implementation. FULLY - We can show clear evidence of good practices which are monitored and integrated in our interventions.
2.1 Appropriate legislation, institutions, procedures, practices, and norms ensure the robust development, promotion, protection, and effective enjoyment of human rights, including environmental rights.
	2.1.1 Regular human rights impact assessments, including of environmental wellbeing, of local policies and regulations are carried out, possibly in collaboration with local human rights organisations and environmental organisations.					Reports/studies on Human Impact Assessment at local level. Collaboration with human rights organisations and external stakeholders in initiatives, projects, etc. Reports or statements of integration/update of policies, highlighting specific changes that were implemented based on the assessment findings. Evidence on Environmental Impact Assessment of policies at local level (e.g., quality of the air, overall health of the environment, etc.) Evidence of policies to promote energy efficiency in housing and public buildings
	2.1.2 Robust monitoring, reporting, and complaint mechanisms, including the presence of an Ombuds Institution, are established to address human rights infringements and environmental infringements.					The right to a clean, healthy and sustainable environment is recognised as a human right. Annual reports or summaries from the local Ombuds Institution or a similar oversight body. Records of individual complaint cases, including documentation of the complaint, the investigation process, and the resolution. Local authorities' participation in national or international human rights reporting mechanisms and/or networks. Evidence of environmental rights monitoring and reporting.

2.2 Equality for all is actively promoted to build more inclusive societies that offer adequate protection from discrimination and hate and where diversity is respected.
	2.2.1 Diversity and inclusion training programmes, including human rights aspects of the environment, capacity-building activities or awareness raising initiatives for local authority employees and community stakeholders are delivered.				Attendance documentation for diversity and inclusion training sessions conducted for local authority employees and community stakeholders. Feedback surveys from participants to trainings, capacity building or awareness raising activities. Educational and promotional materials, such as presentation slides, handouts, or online course content. Reports on the implementation of local authority policies in relation to human rights aspects of the environment.
	2.2.2 Regulations have been drafted by the local authority to implement existing international and national anti-discrimination legislation, including access to a healthy environment.				Municipal laws and policies explicitly prohibit discrimination on various grounds. Cases of discriminatory practices are investigated and sanctioned by municipal authorities. Documentation showcases mechanisms available at the municipal level to address cases of discrimination. Evidence of regulations protecting the right to a clean, healthy and sustainable environment.
2.3 Diversity and inclusion in society of all people, including all genders and the less privileged and vulnerable, are actively supported through dedicated strategies and plans, that specify objectives, targets, and monitoring mechanisms.
	2.3.1 Diversity and Inclusion Strategies adopted and implemented				Strategic plans for promoting diversity and inclusion, that include objectives, targets, and monitoring mechanisms, including also gender equality, support for less privileged and vulnerable groups, and other diversity-related goals. Progress reports on the implementation of such strategic plans. Case studies that can illustrate examples of success stories and outcomes of the strategies and plans. Evidence of initiatives of green participatory budgeting for environmental projects.
	2.3.2 Community engagement initiatives adopted and implemented, including initiatives for environmental projects, and promoting harmony with nature.				Activity reports and summaries of initiatives Attendance records Feedback surveys and forms. Evidence of initiatives of participatory budgeting, for instance around issues of environmental concern. ...

How much do you agree with the following statement?
	Our local authority upholds and champions the respect for human rights for all, ensuring values of fairness, dignity, equality, and respect are at the forefront of our actions. We adhere to European and international standards, including the Council of Europe Statute and the European Convention on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms.

Principle 3 – Rule of Law
The rule of law should be respected, thus providing everyone with legal certainty, including foreseeable law, in which everyone is treated in a dignified, equal, rational, and proportional manner, within a framework in which the separation of powers and the independence of the judiciary are guaranteed throughout the country.
		Not at all	Partially	Sufficiently	Fully	NOT AT ALL - We are aware of the key issues but not planning for action to be taken. PARTIALLY - We acknowledge the key issues and designing answers, but only limited actions is taken. SUFFICIENTLY - We have well developed plans and activities to address key issues with significant examples of implementation. FULLY - We can show clear evidence of good practices which are monitored and integrated in our interventions.
3.1 Legality prevails and legal certainty is guaranteed, including a transparent, accountable, and democratic process for enacting laws.
	3.1.1 Resolutions, procedures, regulations, including environmental laws, and other decisions are adopted in accordance with the rules laid down by law and published in an open and accessible format.					Outreach documentation (invitations, leaflets, newsletters, etc.). Meeting records at public meetings, hearings, or consultations related to the development or amendment of local laws and policies. Information material on feedback and input integration, such as leaflets and brochures. Defined means of access to retained documents Records of environmental decision-making processes ...
	3.1.2 Transparency and accountability reports that outline key legislative actions, decisions, and their impacts on the local community, along with information on the decision-making process.					Reports summarising the local authorities' legal and policies actions and decisions, including the description of the process (council discussions, votes, etc.). Documentation and information material (such as reports, studies) that illustrate the potential impact of actions and decisions on the local community (for example socio-economic study for a new Urban plan). Decisions records/databases/registries/logs that are publicly accessible (online and/or of-line). Streaming and audio-visual recording of meetings of deliberative bodies. ...

3.2 Measures are in place to ensure equality of the law and non-discrimination, and to prevent any misuse of powers, including legal safeguards against arbitrariness and abuse of power by public authorities.
	3.2.1 Local legal framework ensures equality before the law and freedom from discrimination at the municipal level, including on human rights aspect of the environment.				Accessibility monitoring systems/metrics/indicators including data on the availability of services, access for people with disabilities, information in several languages, etc. Service quality reports considering response time, service availability. Feedback records on municipal services. Records of remedies related to environmental issues. ...
	3.2.2 There are effective and proportionate remedies for inappropriate decisions or omissions and any resulting actions or inactions.				Accessible and public documentation illustrating the legal safeguards framework in place at local authority level preventing the abuse of power by public officials. Post-training evaluations or assessments verifying the effectiveness and comprehension of the training content. ...
4.2 Clear procedures for addressing complaints and grievances related to breaches of ethical standards and strategies to identify, resolve, or manage conflicts of interest, even post-tenure. This includes putting into place robust measures to prevent and combat corruption, including its criminalisation, fostering public awareness, and promoting ethical behaviour.
	4.2.1 Local authority ethics committee established to address reported breaches of ethical standards and manage conflicts of interest.					Official documentation or charter establishing the ethics committee. Meeting minutes or records from the ethics committee sessions. Case logs or reports detailing the breaches reviewed and actions taken by the committee. Possibility of reporting on environmental damages in established reporting mechanisms.

	4.2.2 Public awareness campaigns on ethical standards, anti-corruption measures and reporting mechanisms.					Campaign materials such as brochures, posters, or digital content address ethical standards and anti-corruption. Records of public engagement events or workshops promoting ethical behaviour. Analytics or metrics demonstrating reach and impact of the awareness campaigns. Public awareness campaigns on ethical standards, anti-corruption measures, and reporting mechanisms, including environmental ethics.
4.3 Clear procedures are in place for handling complaints and grievances from the people and from public officials and protective measures are in place to safeguard whistle-blowers, ensuring they face no direct or indirect retaliation from their current or former public organisation or its officials.
	4.3.1 Complaints procedure for people and public officials to report suspected breaches of ethical standards and conflicts of interest, including those reporting environmental violations.					A published copy of the whistle-blower protection policy available on the local authority's official website. Records of training or information sessions introducing the policy to local authority employees. Case logs or reports detailing instances where the policy was invoked and the outcomes. ...
	4.3.2 Whistle-blower protection policy offering a confidential reporting platform or hotline within the local authority for whistle-blowers, ensuring anonymity and security.					Documentation or user guides related to the confidential reporting platform or hotline. Usage statistics or logs showcasing the activity on the platform or hotline. Testimonials or feedback from users attesting to the platform's or hotline's confidentiality and effectiveness. Evidence of whistle-blower protection in environmental reporting.
How much do you agree with the following statement?
	Our local authority upholds the principles of Public Ethics, integral to our governance framework. We maintain the highest standards of public ethics to ensure that our institution and its officials consistently serve the public good. Our determined commitment to transparency, accountability, and integrity underpins the confidence of our community in our dedication to their interests, reinforcing public trust and enhancing the effectiveness of our local authority in serving our constituents' needs.

Principle 5 - Accountability Accountability mechanisms should be in place to ensure that government, public institutions and public officials take responsibility for their actions and decisions and can be held to account, and that they accept any consequences or proportionate sanctions for inappropriate decisions or omissions.
		Not at all	Partially	Sufficiently	Fully	NOT AT ALL - We are aware of the key issues but not planning for action to be taken. PARTIALLY - We acknowledge the key issues and designing answers, but only limited actions is taken. SUFFICIENTLY - We have well developed plans and activities to address key issues with significant examples of implementation. FULLY - We can show clear evidence of good practices which are monitored and integrated in our interventions.
